

(BUSINESS WIRE) - The Marsalese Law Group, PLLC today announced is now accepting Venmo, PayPal's millennial-focused, peer-to-peer payments app, as payments for its legal advise and services.

Commenting on the Marsalese Law Group's acceptance of accepting Venmo, Michael Marsalese said, "We are targeting potential millennials clients, progressive thinkers and innovators who utilize Venmo for most of their daily activities. We want to be able to provide that as a service." In addition, Marsalese says "our firm is in a unique position to provide our clients with the latest payment technologies, and we are continually looking at cutting edge ways our clients and potential clients want to pay for their legal services; and Venmo is a great example of how the Marsalese Law Group continues to distinguish itself from other reputable law firms.

About The Marsalese Law Group, PLLC

The Marsalese Law Group is visionary and innovative boutique firm focused on working closely with our diverse client base to provide strategic legal and business counsel to our clients in their business and personal endeavors. We provide our clients with a full range of high-quality, experienced in the following areas: advising startups and emerging businesses, cannabis licensing and regulation, securities and business law. The Firm takes a pragmatic approach to representing our clients in estate planning (handling your financial assets) and Legacy Planning (addressing the non-financial element of wealth) that actually work!

For information on how The Marsalese Law Group can provide professional, effective, and efficient legal advice, contact us anytime at (586) 915-2184 or mm@marsalese.com.